

Genius Hour Blogs

The purpose of the blog is for you to reflect on your Genius Hour project, to keep an ongoing journal of your experience and to let your readers know where you are going. I hate to put a number, but since many of you ask, each blog post should be about 200 words.

Your First blog should answer the following questions:

- What have you decided to focus on for your 20% project?
- Why is this topic important to you?
- What are your goals for this project?
- How will you measure your goals?

All subsequent blogs should answer:

- What have you learned about your topic?
- What have you learned about yourself?
- Where do you go from here?

Commenting on other people's blogs is encouraged. Comment with advice, questions and insights. Be generous and respectful. A good format to use is "I like that" "I wonder if"
